Body of Tony Zinsky, 40, coal miner, who had been missing since Saturday night, was found in Yellow creek near the Cleveland and Pittsburgh railroad station in Salineville at 6:45 o'clock this morning.

The body was discovered by Stephen Kennedy, former East Liverpool policeman, now residing near Salineville, who was on his way to work. The victim's foot was protruding from the water near a concrete bridge.

Dewey Ludlum, called by Kennedy, pulled the body from the water. It was removed to the John L. Hutson morgue, where Coroner J. M. Van Fossan, East Liverpool, will conduct an inquest this afternoon.

Zinsky is believed to have been drowned last Saturday night. He is thought to have fallen into the creek while on his way to his home of Mr. and Mrs. Theologos Tsemilias, Salineville-Wellsville road, just above the creek.

Zinsky's death marks the second tragedy at this point in the creek within four months. Mary, daughter of Tsemilias, was drowned while sledging on the frozen creek last December 10.

Today

The Old Crab Family.

Drifting From Religion.

Wages and Employment.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review.]

VOLTAIRE annoyed aristocracy in his time, by showing that the oldest title of nobility in Europe belonged to descendants of Venetians that fled to the marshes to escape punishment for crime.

Even the oldest human family known, that of Confucius, with many descendants in one Chinese city, seems modern compared with the crab family. Dr. Gilmore, Smithsonian Institution paleontologist, shows that the North Carolina sand crab has relatives in the Grand Canyon dating back about 25,000,000 years.

MEN are interested in animal genealogies. Ants, wasps and other insects have developed marvelous inherited knowledge, which we foolishly call "instinct," because they were millions of years before men came.

Science shows that men will continue on earth, barring catastrophe, at least 100,000,000 years more.

Some day babies will be born inheriting accumulated knowledge, and ready to attack new problems.

That will be a race worthwhile.

READ Fabre's account of surgical operations performed by mud wasps that never saw father or mother, took no lessons, and were born knowing how.

THE Rev. Dr. Straton, in California to debate on evolution says our people, youth especially are drifting from religion and all respect for the laws of God or man. Our nation and race are threatened. He is sure of it. Some centuries ago, earnest, well-meaning priests of Greece and Rome were saying the same thing.

And when Christianity came along those ancients were sure the world was going to the dogs. They went, but the world improved.

UNEMPLOYMENT, according to experts, is less serious than it was. That's small comfort for a man without a job.

BIG business says you must expect unemployment crises. They will always recur. They said that once about financial panics, but the Federal Reserve System ended them.

Big business opposed the reserve system, now universally raised. It would oppose anything suggested to abolish unemployment, as "Socialistic, anarchistic, bolshevistic."

Big business is old and age accepts new ideas reluctantly.

THE marvelous thing is that unem-

CLAY DUMPER DYING AFTER 15-FOOT FALL

Samuel Mercer, 35, Fractures Skull at Congo.

LOSES BALANCE

Plunges Headforemost Down Globe Brick Chute.

Samuel Mercer, 35, Congo, clay dumper for the Globe Brick company at Kenilworth, is believed to be dying today in the City hospital from injuries sustained when he fell to the bottom of a 15-foot chute.

Suffering from a fractured skull, Mercer underwent an operation to relieve a pressure on his brain. He is also suffering from an injury to his right shoulder.

Mercer, whose work includes emptying cars of clay after they are brought from the mine, was attempting to loosen a chunk which had become wedged in the end gate of the car when the accident occurred. Using a crow bar as he stood on a platform, he lost his balance and fell head foremost down the chute which leads to a crushing machine.

The victim called his brother, Joseph Mercer, who operates the crushing machine, and then climbed to the top of the chute and walked to the office of the company, where his injuries were examined by Dr. V. E. McDowd. Later he was taken to his home in Congo.

A few hours later Mercer lapsed into unconsciousness and was removed to the hospital.

He is married and the father of several children.

FRIENDS ALARMED

Monoplane Should Have Reached Newfoundland Coast.

By HARRY R. FLORY.

ST. JOHNS, Newfoundland, March 14.—An unconfirmed report was received from Brigus that several persons at that place claimed to have heard the motor of an airplane between 6 and 7 o'clock this morning. The plane appeared to be a considerable distance away.

It was not sighted. Brigus is 27 miles west of this city.

LONDON, March 14.—(2:45 p. m.)—Thirty hours have now elapsed since Capt. Walter Hinchcliffe and his "mystery passenger" hopped off at Cranwell airbase on a trans-Atlantic flight to America, and the absence of any definite news as to the plane's whereabouts is giving rise to anxiety.

Even allowing for strong headwinds over the north Atlantic, it was estimated that Hinchcliffe's American-built monoplane should have reached the Newfoundland coast by early this afternoon.

Harvey Lloyd, Hinchcliffe's London agent, frankly admitted that he was greatly worried over the absence of the flyer.

It is now generally agreed, even by officials of the Cranwell airbase where Hinchcliffe hopped off yesterday morning at 8:40 o'clock, that the passenger is the Hon. Elsie Mackay, daughter of Lord Inchcape, wealthy British shipping magnate.

Miss Mackay Passenger.

While Mrs. Hinchcliffe, wife of the noted ace, maintained the belief that the passenger is Gordon Sinclair, the Daily Express made the definite announcement that the passenger is really Miss Mackay. A member of the family of Lord Inchcape admitted that

CURTISS FIELD AWAITS FLYER

Hinchcliffe Carries Fuel for 35 or 40 Hours.

CURTISS FIELD, N. Y., March 14.—Flying officers at this field, where preparations are being made to receive Captain Walter Hinchcliffe if he succeeds in his attempt to cross the Atlantic from London, estimated today that the English flyer would be able to stay in the air from 35 to 40 hours.

It was said that the Stinson-Detroit in which Hinchcliffe is traveling uses about 11 1/2 gallons of gasoline an hour. It carried approximately 450 gallons, which would give it a cruising time of exactly 40 hours, however, it was stated, cross or head winds probably would cut this time down to some extent.

No anxiety is felt here, it was said, and none will be felt until late this afternoon, if the plane is still unreported at that time.

U. S. Will Have Population of 120,013,000

On July 1, is Census Bureau Estimate

WASHINGTON, March 14.—The United States will have a population of 120,013,000 on July 1, the census bureau estimated today.

That represents a gain of 14,302,380 in the last eight years. Estimated population July 1, 1927, was 118,623,000.

At the present rate of immigration and excess of births over deaths the country will be populated by 260,000,000 in the year 2000.

Births exceeded deaths by slightly more than 1,000,000 last year. The birth rate, however, is falling more rapidly than is the death rate, and experts are not of the opinion that the population increase in the future will be at the rapid rate of the last twenty years.

New estimates of population were prepared for most of the states, although those where the population decreased between 1910 and 1920, or between 1920 and 1925, the 1920 or 1925

$12,000,000 Property Damage Estimated in Santa Clara Valley

Casualties Mount as Hundreds of Grief-stricken and Hysterical Relatives Storm Crude Morgues in Half Dozen Towns in California Seeking Loved Ones Trapped by Flood.

250 KNOWN DEAD, WHILE AS MANY MORE ARE BELIEVED BURIED IN MUD

New Horrors Revealed as Relief Work Gets Under Way and Drastic Sanitary Measures are Enforced by Governor to Halt Possible Pestilence in Path of Calamity.

By ARTHUR L. MAREK.

LOS ANGELES, March 14.—While hundreds of grief-stricken and hysterical relatives stormed crude morgues in half a dozen towns in the Santa Clara valley today seeking loved ones, the death toll in the San Francisco canyon dam disaster mounted to 500 estimated dead and $12,000,000 property loss.

"We already know of some 250 dead in various sections of the valley," said Under-Sheriff Eugene Biscailuz, in charge of the Newhall-Saugus sector, "and we expect to find that many more when we start digging in the mud and silt. All we did yesterday was to pick up bodies which were in sight along the river bank."

Hour by hour a new horror attending the disaster was revealed as relief work got under way and drastic sanitary measures were enforced to halt possible pestilence.

All during the night beacon-like fires glowed through the drizzle of rain that fell in the valley as dead work animals and wreckage was burned.

Death Swift and Sure.

Governor C. C. Young, who arrived at Santa Paula late yesterday to assist in relief work, was enroute today to San Diego.

"As great as was the calamity, there was one merciful note," said under-sheriff Biscailuz. "Death came swift and sure. Almost everybody in the valley was in bed shortly after midnight when the wave of water was released as 925 feet of the 1,000 foot concrete dam gave way.

"It will never be known exactly what happened at or below the dam. It took our men all day on the beach to reach the dam and there were no survivors."

Assemble Bodies of Victims.

Bodies of victims were being assembled at various cities, towns and hamlets in and on the fringe of Santa Clara valley. At Fillmore were 49 bodies, at Newhall 48, at Santa Paula 32, at Moor Park 51, at Ventura 6, at Piru, 9, at Sattoo 5, at Castaic 10, at Castaic Junction 5, at Oxnard 2.

The search for bodies practically stopped at nightfall last evening and was resumed at daybreak today. Officers in charge of searching parties expected the death list to rise rapidly as a more careful survey of the valley was made, clefts in the hills explored and wreckage uncovered.

COOLIDGE SENDS HIS SYMPATHY

WASHINGTON, March 14.—President Coolidge expressed his sympathetic interest today in the California flood disaster, and proffered any government relief agencies that may be required.

The president called Senator Shortridge (R.) of California, to the White House and discussed the situation with him. Shortridge told the president he did not think there was anything the government could do at this stage.

FAITHFUL DOGS WARN OF FLOOD

Santa Clara Tells Stories of Races With Death.

LOS ANGELES, March 14.—Out of the stricken Santa Clara valley today came eye-witness stories of grim races with death—death riding on the crest of the 50-foot wave of water that poured from behind the shattered ramparts of the St. Francis dam.

For the most part they were tales of swift and sudden tragedy in the night—of babies swept from mothers' arms by the devouring torrent, of husbands and wives parted by the raging waters. Through the vast tale of sorrow ran the crimson thread of heroism. Faithful dogs saved at least three lives by barking a warning of the wave of death rushing through the darkened canyons upon ranch homes.

Among those snatched from the flood was C. H. Hunick, 80, a rancher, living in San Francisco canyon. He was saved by the heroism of his son, William. His daughter and a brother, 28 years old, were swirled away. The rescued man was taken to a hospital in Newhall.

"I was sleeping in a lean-to near door to the home of my brother, 63 years old, when the dam broke," Hunick said. "My daughter, who was 46, and my son, William, were in the house."

"Suddenly, William ran into my room and cried: 'Father, there's a terrible noise outside. I think it's an earthquake or a tornado.' I sat up in bed and listened."

If your Pavement is Bad, re-surface it with BRICK

Perhaps your street is in bad condition and you are considering having it re-built.

Why not get full salvage value for your old street pavement by using it as a base for a fine brick surface.

Extensive tests conducted by the U. S. Government prove that various materials make excellent bases for brick surfaces. Your City Engineer is familiar with these Government findings. Ask him about brick surfacing old pavement.

Paving brick, being vitrified, makes the finest known wearing surface for any street. This surface is tough—nothing on wheels can damage it. It has a resilient sand cushion to take up traffic shocks. It is totally proof against destructive weather conditions—thus actual insurance of lowest paving cost.

Brick surfaced streets look attractive. They are safe and smooth riding and always open to traffic.

"The A. B. C. of Good Paving," a taxpayer's manual, tells in words and pictures how engineers today build over-wearing, low cost, brick surfaced roads and streets. Address your request to National Paving Brick Manufacturers Association, 335 South Michigan Avenue, Chicago.

Spring Display Days

Revealing the first hints of what's what for Easter, which is less than four weeks distant, a three-day exposition of fashion's latest creations will be ushered in tomorrow, when East Liverpool observes the first of the Spring Display Days.

The tri-state zone will suspend preparations for beautifying front and back yards and temporarily forget plans for painting homes, etc., to behold what mother, father, brother and sister will wear during the spring and summer.

The Ceramic City is prepared for an influx of visitors. Stores are bedecked with fresh stocks, show windows have been artistically decorated and even the city streets in the uptown district have been given a much needed bath by the municipal service department. In fact, everything is in readiness for the three-day event.

With foreign as well as domestic fashion on hand, East Liverpool merchants, who are participating in the Spring Display Day celebration, are ready to meet the demands of the most fastidious dresser. New York and Paris styles are among those offered for selection.

And shoppers who live in nearby towns will be given fare refunds, no matter whether they travel in their own automobile or ride in trains, trolley cars or busses.

It will pay you to visit East Liverpool stores tomorrow, Friday and Saturday.

Crime's Annual Cost

Crime is costing the people of the United States $12,000,000,000 annually. So Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley told the federal grand jury in Chicago as he swore the members of that body into service. He pointed out that this astounding total was greater by $5,000,000,000 than the amount loaned the Allies by our government during the progress of the World war.

This staggering expense caused by crime is borne almost entirely by the honest citizenship of the land. It embraces the cost of maintaining 500,000 policemen, sheriffs, marshals, courts, prosecutors, prisoners. It includes also the value of money and other valuables lost through robbery or theft and the economic loss of the 300,000 criminals confined in penitentiaries and jails. Added to this is the economic loss resulting from murders and crimes against the person which incapacitate the victims, in the event that they survive their wounds, from becoming producing citizens.

"Reports show 12,000 murders during the last year in the United States," the judge told the jury. "In Chicago, statistics show the murder of six policemen for every criminal convicted for the murder of a policeman."

And then Judge Lindley brought up a point too often overlooked by many who actually look upon themselves as good citizens even when engaged in the breaking of a law. He said:

"You are not to use any prejudice against one law or the other. Some of us like this law and do not like another, but as long as a law is on the books it must be enforced."

"This is a country ruled by the majority, and the majority passes the laws. Criminals represent less than one per cent of the population, so it is obvious that this class is not ruling."

Herein is made plain the great trouble with our people today. They, or a great proportion of them, want others to obey the law, but they themselves do not want to obey it. They want life and property protected and safeguarded, and yet they aid, and abet, and encourage by their dealings with law-breakers, the development of a criminal element, which was against human life and property rights alike. If so-called good citizens would cease to be law-breakers, if they stopped making, or trying to make, fish of one law and fowl of another, and respected all laws, it would not be long until crime would be greatly reduced.

Where Foreign Loans Go

Europe has been misrepresented in the matter of loans. That continent did borrow largely from the United States during the war, but has not borrowed much since.

Americans are pouring private capital into foreign investments since the war, lending about as much as the government did during the war and immediately afterward; but they are pouring it mainly into the western hemisphere, not the eastern.

When the World War started, our people had about $2,500,000,000 invested in foreign countries. Now that sum has grown to about $10,400,000,000, and is rolling up at the rate of more than a billion a year. But of the whole amount, only about $2,500,000,000 has been lent to, or invested in, Europe. Investments in our own hemisphere are nearly three times that much. And of more than $7,000,000,000 now invested in the New World, Latin America has two-thirds, and Canada nearly all the rest.

The Latin-American share, too, isn't concentrated in Mexico, as many Americans seem to imagine. That country has a little over a billion of our capital. The rest is spread all over, from Nicaragua to Tierra del Fuego.

So American savings are being used to develop and enrich America—all the Americas—rather than the continent for which our people poured out their treasure during the war. That is as it should be.

Wilson Medal For Lindy

Col. Lindbergh has been awarded the Woodrow Wilson foundation gold medal and $25,000 in recognition of his epoch-making adventures in the air. This is a meritorious recognition, if there ever was such a thing.

The fundamentals of the Woodrow Wilson foundation stipulate the award must be made to the individual whom trustees of the foundation consider has contributed the greatest single thing to the cause of advancement of literature, science or anything else which will be of material benefit to humankind.

There will be no question of Col. Lindbergh's contribution to the material benefit of humankind. He has proven the stability of heavier-than-air machines. He has introduced a new conception of Americanism in the countries of the Old World as well as the countries of the southern half of the New World.

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 14.—The possibility—even probability, according to some experts—that the present cycle of unemployment in the United States will bring about the five-day week in industry is the subject of study by capitalists and labor leaders alike. Unemployment is not now serious in the same degree that it was in 1921 and at earlier periods. Secretary of Labor Davis puts the number of unemployed at a million. Some labor leaders and union members place the figure as high as five million. It seems safe to assume that the actual number lies somewhere between these two; doubtless nearer the smaller estimate.

Union labor, such as it was, as early as 1925 suggested a reduction in the twelve-hour day, then practically universal throughout all trades. Needless to say the suggestion was not received cordially by employers, and it failed. With the years, the working hours did increase and finally in 1924 the newly formed American Federation of Labor started the agitation for an eight-hour day. It took years to bring this about and even the twelve-hour day lasted in the nation's greatest industry, steel, up until 1920.

This is conspicuously an age of upsets in American life, as well as industrial life throughout the world. Some old-established tenets of political economy are being challenged as never before since their first general acceptance.

It is true that when labor-saving machinery first was introduced workers rioted, claiming that the machines would enable one man to do the work of ten and thereby put the other nine out of jobs. But experience showed that the division of labor, under the factory system, and the application of labor, produced more jobs than ever before and resulted in better wages and a stronger effectual demand and in more things for more men. The new economy made commonplace articles of consumption which before had been regarded only as luxuries for the rich. It even made available to the working man new things which the rich could not have had before at any price.

But now, after generations, the ultimate success of this scheme of life and labor has been abruptly challenged. No less an expert in labor matters than Secretary of Labor Davis himself recently publicly declared that the time has come when the tables once more are turned and labor-saving devices actually are causing unemployment. So many improvements have been made that fewer and fewer men are needed each year.

One other potent factor exists in the situation which, it is claimed, calls for a five-hour day. It is the fact that while invention has gone forward at such a rate, replacing men with machinery and cutting down the number of jobs, the population has been growing by leaps and bounds. There has been the natural increase, normal to all communities. Then there has been immigration, only lately limited. Further, there has been a great decline in infant mortality. More children are growing to maturity to demand a place in the industrial world. And, through improved hygiene, sanitation, and science, the average span of life has been materially lengthened. This latter means that men are holding onto their jobs longer of the work week to five days, sociologists argue, the working man will have more time for the improvement of his mind, more time for recreation, more time for the care of his health, and for proper rest. This is bound to result in greater productive efficiency and employers as well as employees will be benefited.

Questions And Answers

By Frederic J. Haskin.

Many readers send in questions signed only with initials, asking that the answer appear in the newspaper. The space is limited and would not accommodate a fraction of such requests. The answers published are ones that may interest many readers, rather than the one that asks the question only. All questions should be accompanied with the writer's name and address and a two-cent stamp for reply. Send your question to the East Liverpool Review Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C.

Q. Are valuable pearls ever found in edible oysters? P. E.

A. The Bureau of Fisheries says that edible oysters never produce valuable pearls, because their shells have but limited iridescence. Stories of pearls, that would have been valuable if they had not been spoiled by cooking are not based upon fact.

Q. Is ecclesiastical lace made in a particular pattern? N. P. T.

A. Church laces are usually the finest examples of lace-making which artists can design and fingers execute. Much of the finest lace has been made by nuns in convents. Venetian points are considered the most beautiful and elaborate laces known, made entirely with the needle.

Q. Where was Edwin Booth, the tragedian, born? T. D. W.

A. He was born in Bel Air, Maryland.

Q. Why is the diamond usually selected for the stone in an engagement ring? M. R.

A. Its beauty, costliness, and durability are some of the reasons, but there are other stones which would fill these requirements. In the Middle Ages the belief was current that the diamond was a peacemaker between husband and wife.

Q. What is the largest painting in the world? L. W. E.

A. Robust's painting called Paradise is the largest.

Q. Where was Goliath, the giant, born? D. K.

A. Goliath was born in Gath—one of the five confederate cities of the Philistines.

Q. What is meant by the expression "Paddy's hurry-cane"? N. E. L.

A. When there is no breeze and a pennant hangs against the mast, it is said that Paddy's hurricane is blowing, or that the wind is up and down the mast.

Q. Where is the district in London called Mimms? A. M. M.

A. There is no district actually in London called Mimms. North Mimms is in Hertfordshire. The manor was held by the Bishop of Chester as early as the reign of Edward the Confessor. South Mimms is 15 1/2 miles from London.

A BROAD With McIntire

ST. MORITZ, March 14.—The first night in St. Moritz is spent in the wide-eyed manner of the gold fish. You find sleep impossible and blame it on the dinner coffee or natural excitement of a change of country. You learn the next day the high altitude caused the racing pulse and stimulation.

But one becomes acclimated quickly. The women wear long trousers in the male fashion. Feet are shod in heavy brogans over which are worn heavy woolen stockings. Skiing and bob sledding—belly buster fashion—are the chief sports and they make it hum.

There are two tricks to skiing. One is to avoid a used or slick mountain for the initial venture. The other is to keep both legs going in the same direction. It is rather "scary" to whizz off on skis at breakneck speed with no idea how it is all going to turn out.

But if you have a spill it is like landing in a soft feather bed and you only suffer a slight blow to your dignity. Bob sledding offers the same thrill as a Coney Island roller coaster at far greater speed. You shoot up hills and drop dizzily down valleys with a pulse-pumping zip.

If you come here with a disgust for food epitomized in sipping a weak broth you find yourself in 24 hours wolfing a large juicy steak with all the trimmings. I thought the Swiss existed chiefly on native cheese, but I'm over that notion. They are grand cooks.

Women who pride themselves on dainty feet should not visit St. Moritz. The feet are wrapped and ballooned into such miniature barges they are known not as "kiddles" but "Great Danes." The strange part of it is that after a time the effect appears smart.

All servants seem to be known by the name of Fritz in the same fashion. I suppose we call Pullman porters George. The Fritz assigned to me took me on my first skiing this morning. After fastening my skis, he gave me a shove. I swallowed seven quarts of air all the mountains and houses seemed to flatten out and I landed against a hillside doing a complete split. I'm mad at Fritz.

Jay O'Brien, well-known along Broadway, leads the social activities. He is a former husband of Mae Murray and now the husband of a wife of Julius Fleischmann, the late Cincinnati millionaire sportsman. He is a good-looking fellow with a soft Southern drawl and the life of the party—at which he seems to be a perpetual host.

A morning paper announces: "Heavy Snow Storm Hits New York." Somehow in this blanket of snow that does not sound of great news importance. Under my open window sits a party of four at an outdoor table. They have been skiing and are now whistling—what an atrocious pun—and I hope to finish this before they begin singing. A few drinks here and you may depend on a song.

One of the guests is a chunky little man with a button nose, who wears ear muffs and collects autographs. He is from Waxahatchie, Texas, and goes from one hotel door to another with a gentle knock and request for a signature. I've often wondered what people did who lived on Waxahatchie.

I stopped in a little house along a slope today to inquire a direction. The man who answered the knock eyed me curiously and gave the desired information. "You are a long way from the Hotel Majestic," he called is I set off. One rarely sees a waiter's face so I did not remember him. He had been a waiter at that New York hotel when I lived there a good many years ago. He had come home at the outbreak of the war, lost an arm in action and is now conducting a little grocery shop in the Alps. And his first name is Fritz.

In the smoking room this evening I was surrounded by a party of five big game hunters. They discussed elephant round-ups in Africa, wild pig sticking in Borneo and tiger hunting in India. And I had a feeling when they glanced at me they rather suspected me of doing fancy embroidery work.

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention Is Worth A Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland.

What is your most common fault? Temper, late hours, strong drink, over-eating—what is your pet bad habit?

Pretty soon you will be fifty years of age. Can you expect to do at fifty everything you did so easily at thirty? You should observe very little difference in all your powers. But, unfortunately, the manner of living is such that the average man has failed a good deal at fifty.

The average person of fifty cannot drive a car with the same alertness and nervous response that he did at forty. But with the right sort of care of the body, there will be almost as great efficiency, even at sixty, as in early life.

When I speak of "care of the body," I refer to the every-day, day in and day out, care of the body. You cannot care for the body six days out of every week and abuse it on the seventh, as regularly as the seventh day arrives—you cannot perform this way and not expect to pay the fiddler.

You may not be interested now, but the day will come when you will hate the time you began to let down on good habits and right living. You can't eat your cake and have it, too. Unless you refrain from self-indulgence, you are sure to suffer in consequence.

Nature is a patient, indulgent, considerate master. But there comes a time when Nature rebels. She will overlook an occasional misstep, but when there is persistent and every-day failure to walk in the middle of the road, there is sure to be trouble. Appetite is almost irresistible. Just because we want a thing, yearn for it and can't resist the urge to take it, is the reason why so many lives are broken. If they are not broken, they are impaired in their quality.

Somewhere the other day I read that the "style of life is fixed at the age of four." I am not quite convinced that it is fixed at so early an age. There can be no doubt, I am quite sure, that the first ten years will influence all the rest of life.

I made an application of this thought to our eating habits, saying that our appetites for foods are determined by what we practice in youth. A reader in Detroit wrote to say she disagreed with my conclusion. She said she eats lots of cake and candy now, because which she was a little girl and lived with her grandmother, she was not permitted to have sweet things. "I am making up for that deprivation now," she writes.

I can't blame the Detroit lady, but I am sure she will agree that she was influenced by her grandmother's force of character, at least. The dear old lady "just wouldn't" let the child eat sweets. Now the granddaughter just will do as she pleases!

But, this case aside, there is no doubt that our likes and dislikes for certain good, our enjoyment of or indifference to fresh air, our pleasure in or dislike of walking, our indulgence in late hours or making it the rule to go to bed early—these are habits and practices which early training has drilled into us.

If you indulge your appetites from your youth up, you will pay the penalty by the time you are fifty. In my opinion, this is an almost self-evident truth.

Drill your children in the exercise of good habits. Make it clear to them why the things you insist upon are good. In the long run such instruction will bear fruit in good health and long life.

Negro is Remanded to Jail Without Bond in Death of Clarence Drew in Shack Near Merrill Dam

BEAVER, Pa., March 14.—William Board, colored, New Brighton, is held today without bond in Beaver county jail for grand jury action in connection with the death of Clarence Drew, also of New Brighton, who was shot Sunday night in his shack near Merrill dam, Vanport.

When arraigned before Justice David Stewart, Beaver, Board pleaded not guilty and was remanded to jail. Charge of murder was filed against him by County Detective Charles O'Laughlin.

Board is alleged to have made a confession when grilled by O'Laughlin, Joseph Winters, assistant detective, and Corporal White of the state police. Board claimed that the fatal

SPRING FROCKS

Combining Ultra Smart Modes With Economy

There is a world of variety in the new dress collections as they are being offered for spring, 1928. Colors run rampant and gay figured materials are important. Intricate cut and manipulation of fabric continues to be the high light, thus carrying out the elaborate formal air that has been so important for the last few seasons, perhaps because it gives the tall and slender look so favored by the fashionable women today. We find tunics in extremely good standing... many are wrapped tightly around the figure with shirred or plaited or circular fullness appearing at the opposite side.

SPRING SUITS

Without a question of a doubt, suits are to be the outstanding feature of the spring mode. For what woman doesn't revel in the feeling of smartness that a two piece tailored suit gives her? This year the tailor is perhaps more interesting than ever and especially are the skirts cunning. Plaids of every type and description are used and add interest to the new little suit skirts. Mannish materials are the most favored in the two-piece tailored suit—coverts, reps, oxfords, kashas and tweeds are important.

SPRING HATS

There's an entirely new silhouette in the hats as they are being prepared for spring. This quite naturally was conceived by the French and the whole secret lies in the novelty of the brim. The general idea, however, is one of simplicity, but the lines are unusually complicated. This new silhouette pertains solely to the brims, the crowns remaining snug and following the contour of the head closely, and are just as simple as ever.

Party Frocks

The wide bouffant modes, the slender straightline models all here for their choosing; dazzling style arrays, brilliant color effects in chiffons and georgettes. For dance, parties, dinner or graduation.

UNDIES

Lovely, dainty silk underthings—portraying the fashions of the minute in line, color and detail in sheer silks, trimmed with embroidery and rich laces. Gowns, Danettes and other fineries are included in our special selling.

SPRING COATS

Newest Modes Fabrics and Trims

Women will be glad to hear that kasha and kasha types—materials so popular for balmy spring days—appear again to be the fabrics of supremacy in the cloth coat realm, while silk coats are developed of dull finished silks.... Other materials popular are chevrons, twill, novelty reps, covert, kasha and broadcloth. Fur trimming for our new Spring coats is more a matter of Madame's choice for the reason that both are equally smart but perhaps the very newest is the furless coat which strangely enough and smartly too, is entirely collarless, depending thoroughly upon its smart simplicity for its success.

SPRING ENSEMBLES

With the passing of the season's the ensemble has been growing in importance, and this season finds some very fascinating modes for both the sports and dress wear. For sports wear, the shops are featuring the seven-eighths length coat. Blouses of the ensembles have snug hips and collarless neck lines—one in batik that we noticed on our fashion jaunt through the stores, was a black kasha jacket model with finely checked black and white skirt, trimmed with vertical panels of the same fabric.

Spectre of Pestilence Hovers Over Santa Clara Valley.

SCORES HOMELESS

Seek Cause of Break in California Dam.

LOS ANGELES, March 14.—The spectre of pestilence hovered over flood devastated Santa Clara Valley today as an army of relief workers, worn and saddened by the grim spectacle of the last 24 hours, returned to their task of recounting the dead and taking stock of losses in the St. Francis dam catastrophe.

When the sun sank last night, the bodies of more than 200 victims, lay in improvised morgues which dotted the desolate area.

More than 300 other persons, driven from their homes or caught like rats in a trap by the onrushing waters, were still missing.

Meanwhile, three separate investigations were under way to determine the cause of the break in the huge dam which unleashed 10,000,000,000 gallons of impounded water.

Sanitary Measures Adopted

Although medical authorities saw little possibility of pestilence diseases taking grip on the flood survivors, sanitary measures were adopted immediately to prevent a further death toll in the stricken area.

While the perils of pestilence was said to have been greatly alleviated due to the fact that the flood waters left no stagnation as they raced on to sea level, the danger of contagious diseases lurked for the living as countless bodies were believed to be buried in silt and mire and still others were being sought among the debris.

As the second day broke bleakly on the spectacle of death and devastation, huge bonfires still flared in the flood-swept valley and the gorges of San Francisco Canyon.

Red Cross flags, hoisted atop improvised hospitals, marked havens of refuge for the sick and injured while other sufferers slept in tents pitched on the hill sides.

Tag Each Corpse

And with only percentage of those recovered so far identified, there is the possibility of duplication in reports for the number of unidentified dead.

At Moorpark, where 41 bodies have been brought, fourteen corpses, black with mud and unrecognizable, were laid out in the rear of the drug store which has been converted into a morgue for the reception of all bodies found in the south side of the Santa Clara river.

To facilitate the task of identifying the dead at Newhall, where 48 bodies have been brought to the Masonic hall, a numbered tag is attached to each corpse as it is received at the temporary morgue.

PROBE DEATH OF TWO BOYS

Mysterious Malady Kills Youngsters in Indiana.

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., March 14.—Coroner's inquest into the mysterious death of Orville and Richard Bohle, aged 2 and 4 years, respectively, is scheduled to be held here late today.

Dr. Ralph Webster of Rush Medical college, Chicago, reported yesterday that no abnormal amount of oxalic acid had been found in the vital organs of Richard, sent to him for examination.

Coroner Charles Mayfield announced that the bodies of the children would not further be disturbed. It was suggested Orville's body also be exhumed for analysis, but Coroner Mayfield declines that this will be done.

William Sims, an uncle of the dead boys, who was stricken with apparently the same mysterious malady that killed his nephews, was reported slightly better today. His condition, however, is still said to be critical.

OHIOAN FOUND SHOT TO DEATH

Clement Walter, 30, Kills Self in Columbus.

COLUMBUS, March 14.—Suicide was the cause assigned today by Coroner J. A. Murphy for the death of Clement Walter, 30, whose body was found, with a bullet in the head, in the treasurer's office at City hall at 1:20 o'clock this morning. Walter was the son of City Building Inspector Bert Walter.

Edmer L. Jenkins, city treasurer, and a colored janitor were the only other persons in the building at the time of the shooting, police believe. Treasurer Jenkins said Walter was in his office and that he (Jenkins) was in another room, working on an income tax when he heard a shot.

Walter's body was discovered, slumped in a chair, a .45 calibre pistol, which Jenkins kept in his desk, lying near him. Three bullets had been fired from the gun. One was found in the wall and another had entered Walter's head. No motive for suicide has been ascertained.

Tells Fiction-Like Story of 10 Murders

Officials of Two Counties Investigate Information Given by 63-year-old Detroit Woman.

DETROIT, Mich., March 14.—A fiction-like story of 10 murders, unsolved for 50 years, related by a 63-year-old woman, was being investigated today by authorities of Wayne and Oakland counties.

All the murders occurred between 1874 and 1885. The woman is said to have given her information to the Highland Park police. Highland Park police are said to have checked the woman's story and found it authentic in some respects.

Other authorities, however, said the whole thing appeared to have been invented by some one with a lively imagination.

Newspaper files of the period recalled the murder of the family of Frank Knoch, on Dec. 16, 1885. The family comprised Frank Knoch, 26, his wife, Susan, 21, and two sons, George 2 years old, and Frank Albert, 10 months.

SOME well meaning men will call that Socialism, or worse. They would view with horror the abolition of a great working class, producing just enough for the rich, with unemployment as soon as the prosperous got all they needed.

In Europe only the rich have automobiles, here, 24,000,000 cars are used.

Our industrial genius has accomplished that, high wages, low prices, high quality, go together.

That combination would have been called impossible a few years ago.

TWO ARE HURT IN AUTO CRASH

One Driver Held After Triple Collision in Midland.

Two persons were injured in a collision near Stop 9 on the East Liverpool-Midland road, at 7:30 o'clock last night in which three motor vehicles figured.

A. A. Ambler, Beechwood, suffered a fractured right rib, a broken left finger and lacerations. H. J. Fried, Dixonville, sustained minor bruises. Dr. H. A. Turk dressed the injuries of both men at the City hospital after which they were taken to their homes.

Ignatz Vula, 206 Midland avenue, Midland, whose Buick car is alleged to have struck the automobile occupied by Ambler and Fried, was arrested by members of the highway patrol, charged with operating a car without a driver's license. He will be given a hearing before Justice Charles Kennedy, Midland, at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

The crash is said to have occurred when a truck backed out of a side road to the main highway, crashing into the Dodge car, occupied by the two local men. Vula's car was hit by the Dodge machine. Two of the cars figuring in the crash were badly damaged.

DENIES MINERS' UNION CHARGES

No Conspiracy to Depress Coal Prices, Rail Man Says.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Categorical denial of union charges that the New York Central railroad was engaged in a conspiracy to depress coal prices and smash the United Mine Workers was made today before the Senate interstate commerce committee by W. C. Bower, manager of purchases and stores for the road.

"In placing coal orders no distinction has been made and none is now being made between union and non-union mines," said Bower.

Bower also exonerated other railroads which have been accused by the union as being mainly responsible for the present trouble in the industry.

"I have no agreement or implied understanding either express or implied with the Pennsylvania railroad, the Baltimore and Ohio, or any other railroad company outside the New York Central system concerning prices to be paid for the purchase of coal, the localities from which purchases are to be made or the class of operators from which purchases are to be made," Bower declared.

Before Bower took the stand, the committee examined Joseph Meagher of Wheeling, West Va., a vice president of the Ohio Coal Operators' association. He styled himself a "human engineer" and a "military aide" for the operators. His job was to "suggest protection" for open shop mines.

UPHAM KEPT SINCLAIR GIFT SECRET, CLAIM

A. U. Leonard, Former Secretary, Testifies in Quiz.

BOND CHECK-UP

Confidential Employees Knew Nothing of Bonds.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—The late Fred W. Upham, Republican national treasurer, kept his handling of Harry F. Sinclair's Liberty bonds a secret from even his own confidential employees, A. U. Leonard, former secretary to Upham, testified today at the senate inquiry into the Continental Trading Company's "slush fund."

Leonard said he thought James A. Patten, Chicago wheat king, was making a $25,000 gift to the Republican party when, in fact, Upham had given Patten $25,000 of the Sinclair bonds in exchange for the contribution.

Leonard said that Upham had turned over to his successor, W. V. Hodges, of Denver, a card index of Republican contributors. All other records, including original documents, were destroyed.

"Did you keep your stenographic notes of Mr. Upham's correspondence?"

"No, they were destroyed when the other records were destroyed—some time after June, 1924."

"What records were destroyed?"

"File after file of personal correspondence and other records connected with his trusteeship."

Walsh brought in R. W. Stewart, head of the Standard Oil of Indiana, who defied the senate committee some weeks ago.

"Do you know Robert W. Stewart?"

"Yes, not intimately, but I know who he is."

"Have you seen him in Mr. Upham's office?"

"No, I saw him with Mr. Upham at the Chicago club."

"Didn't Mr. Upham write a letter to Attorney General Daugherty or Postmaster General Nease protesting against an oil lease to Sinclair or the Sinclair interests?"

"Not that I know."

"Asks About Oil Lease Protest."

"Do you assert such a letter was never written?"

"I don't recall it."

"Do you recall him writing Mr. Nease protesting against a lease being granted Mr. Stewart?"

"No, I do not."

"What do you know about Col. Stewart's desire to get a lease on Teapot Dome?"

"Nothing at all."

Then Walsh turned to the $60,000 Liberty bonds sent Upham by Hays.

"How could that transaction occur without it coming to your attention?"

"Mr. Upham had a steel lock box in his file," said Leonard. "If he got bonds, he must have kept them in the safe and handled them himself. I did get a check from James A. Patten and I sent him a receipt for it. No one in the office knew anything about the Liberty bonds. The first I ever heard of them was when it came out in the papers. I never heard of the bonds before that."

"Apparently conducted with considerable secrecy?"

"Yes."

The committee then adjourned to meet tomorrow in Chicago.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, March 14.—After an irregular opening, featured by an 8-point drop in radio and a 5 1/2 point jump in American Linseed, trading in the stock market developed a more orderly pace today, the volume of big-block transactions fell off and price fluctuations in the speculative favorites were somewhat narrower as compared with the two previous sessions of the week.

Radio declined to 138 in the first transaction, which compares with yesterday's opening price of 160 and closing price of 146. American Linseed's advance to 100 completed a gain of about 16 points since yesterday noon, mostly at the expense of a badly trapped short interest. International Nickel returned to 91 after having dropped about 10 points near the end of Tuesday's session. American Can was a favorite in the dividend industrial, and speculative buying of the St. Paul and Pacific stocks featured the rails.

With stock exchange authorities continuing their investigation of the market position of radio, and a growing restlessness in the financial district arising from the dazzling pace of the market in the last week or more, conservative traders were inclined to stand aside while the big professional bulls and bears fought out their battle on their own terms. A large share of the trading revolved around less than ten of the prominent industrial shares in which "pool operations," one way or the other, have been in progress. General Motors and steel common were comparatively quiet, as also were the popular motor shares which have shown conspicuous strength in recent sessions.

G. O. P. Meeting Also Pledges Support to Willis Delegate.

Endorsement of Mrs. H. Marshall Cronin of this city as candidate for the Republican nomination for state representative and Mrs. Wilma Sinclair LeVan, Steubenville, as delegate-at-large to the Republican national convention, was voted at a mass meeting of Republican women in the Carnegie library last night under the auspices of the East Liverpool Women's Republican club.

Endorsement of Mrs. LeVan, who is pledged to the support of Senator Frank B. Willis, was given because of her interest in women's organization work throughout the Eighteenth congressional district, it was said.

Members of the club also voted to federate with the Ohio Council of Republican Women, state organization. The membership roll will be kept open for a few days.

Copy of the minutes of last night's meeting will be sent all members who were not present. The meeting was called by Mrs. Cronin, county chairlady of the Republican women, acting for the city chairlady, Mrs. May Joseph, who is ill.

LINDY RESUMES HOP FROM EAST

Charles A. Lindbergh landed at Bolling field a few minutes before noon today, having flown from Coatesville, Pa., where he was forced down last night because of the fog.

COATESVILLE, Pa., March 14.—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, forced down on a farm near here by fog yesterday, resumed his flight shortly before 10:30 a. m. today. The famous aviator and his counsel, Henry Breckenridge, took off without mishap and headed in a southeasterly direction, apparently bound for Washington.

Ohio Hold-up Recalls Days of "Road Agent"

Three Unmasked Bandits Rob Buckeye Stage Driver and Barbecue Stand Operator Near Mt. Sterling.

MT. STERLING, O., March 14.—Days of the "road agent" and precarious overland travel were recalled here today when Marshal Beathard reported that three unmasked bandits held up a Buckeye stage driver and a barbecue stand operator, at Deer Creek curve, near here, shortly after midnight.

The three men, armed, visited the barbecue stand of Fred Young, and after buying sandwiches turned their guns upon him and relieved him of his night's receipts of $20. Sauntering from the barbecue stand the men emerged when a bus occupied by the driver only, drove up.

He was held up and robbed of about $10.

The bandits escaped in a tattered touring car in the direction of Columbus.

One of the men carried a rifle; the others carried pistols.

Fear Flyers Lost

Miss Mackay, posing as a "male passenger," had hopped off with Hinchliffe. Miss Mackay could not be located today, strengthening the belief that she is the venturesome spirit who risked her life on the trans-Atlantic flight.

Atlantic liners were asked by wireless to watch for the plane, but only vague and round about reports were received. When it was definitely established that Hinchliffe had left for America instead of India it was assumed that he would follow the north Atlantic steamship lane towards Halifax.

Secretly Boards Plane.

Friends of Miss Mackay, who has long been known for her daring spirit and love of adventure, said she cherished the ambition to be the first woman to fly across the Atlantic. Led by curiosity they conducted inquiries of their own which convinced them that the passenger with Hinchliffe is the ship's magnate's daughter.

It is understood that Miss Mackay arrived at the Cranwell airfield with Hinchliffe on Monday and that she spent Monday night with friends at a house not far from the field. Early Tuesday morning she is reported to have hurried to the field in flying clothes and secretly boarded the plane.

Liner Sights Plane.

NEW YORK, March 14.—Determined to be the first flier to span the northern Atlantic in an east to west flight, Captain Walter R. Hinchliffe, intrepid British "ace," and the Hon. Elsie Mackay, daughter of Lord Inchcape, today were believed to be winging their way towards America in the golden-winged Stinson monoplane in which they hopped off from Cranwell airfield, England at 8:40 a. m. yesterday.

According to a dispatch from Halifax, N. S., the plane should be nearing the coast of Newfoundland.

The Halifax dispatch stated that the French liner Roussillon, which sailed from that city for New York at 7:30 last night, reported picking up a wireless message from another ship which reported sighting a "large plane flying westward" when four days out of Bordeaux. The name of the ship was not disclosed.

Lancaster Postmaster Dies.

LANCASTER, O., March 14.—Michael Effinger, 62, postmaster here, was found dead in bed today. Death was due to apoplexy.

PAT'S STORY WILL NOT FREE BEN RUDNER

McDermott Confession Does Not Exonerate, Harter Says.

NAMED KILLERS

Lifer's Narrative is Believed True by Prison Warden.

COLUMBUS, O., March 14.—Pat McDermott's account of the Don Mellet assassination, as given to newspapermen in Ohio penitentiary here last Saturday, will not tend to exonerate Ben Rudner, in the opinion of Henry Harter, Jr., Stark county prosecutor, who visited the penitentiary yesterday.

McDermott was convicted of complicity in the killing on Christmas eve of 1926. Rudner, former Massillon hardware merchant, and Floyd Streitenberger, former Canton detective, were also subsequently given life sentences. Louis Mazer, "underworld king," who turned state's evidence against Streitenberger, was allowed to plead guilty to manslaughter.

McDermott, in his recent story of the manner in which the militant Canton publisher was killed, says that Streitenberger and Mazer did the shooting. He says, however, that Rudner introduced him to Mazer and the former is thus equally implicated, Harter believes.

Prosecutor Harter did not talk with any of the prisoners, but conferred at length with Warden P. E. Thomas at the penitentiary. Thomas told him, in his opinion, most of McDermott's story is true.

CONDEMNED LAD LOSES APPEAL

Negro Slayer Will Pay Death Penalty Tomorrow.

COLUMBUS, March 14.—Final efforts to save Eddie Peppers, 21-year-old Negro hotel porter, of Gallipolis, sentenced to die in the electric chair tomorrow night, had apparently failed today when the Ohio supreme court rejected an appeal filed in his behalf.

Peppers was convicted of attacking and strangling Mrs. Florence Buck, 37, postmistress of Grimms Landing, W. Va., in a hotel room at Gallipolis. The victim was strangled to death with a towel, August 13, and Peppers was found guilty in November.

DIME ONE WAY, NICKEL ANOTHER

DOVER, O., March 14.—Three miles would seem to be three miles, either way you take it, but people in this vicinity were aware today that sometimes there's a difference.

It's three miles from Dover to New Philadelphia and its costs a nickel to make the trip on a trolley car. But last night the Dover city council granted the N. O. P. & L. company a fare increase, effective April 11. The New Philadelphia council has not yet taken such action.

As a result, after April 11, it will cost a dime for a ride to New Philadelphia, but only a nickel for the return trip.

MAN CLAIMS HE WAS KIDNAPED

Pittsburgh Postal Worker Tells Police Story of Drugging.

Rex Haney, Pittsburgh postal worker, appeared at the City hall about 10:30 o'clock this morning and told the police that he had been kidnapped by two gunmen who, after forcing him to drive them to West Point, drugged him and fled.

Haney, driving a truck, came to East Liverpool after he had revived. Chief of Police McDermott communicated with Pittsburgh police, after hearing Haney's story. An investigation is being made in Pittsburgh.

The young man, who formerly resided here, claims that he was collecting mail from a box on Route No. 868 in Baum boulevard at 9:30 o'clock last night when two men approached him and at the point of a gun forced him to enter their Pontiac truck.

He was told to take the wheel of the car while his two captors sat in the rear of the car and gave him directions. Haney said that he drove to Beaver Falls, East Palestine and thence to Lisbon. Near West Point one of the men gave him a drink from a bottle. A few minutes later he lapsed into unconsciousness and when he revived the pair had disappeared.

The truck bore the name of Friday Brothers, 4767 Baum boulevard, distributors of Stewart-Warner products. No report of the missing postal collector had been received by Pittsburgh police when they were called by local authorities.

Sweden is using the radio for the transmission of telegrams where the telephone or cable is not available.

Battle Midland Cagers In Second Tilt Monday

Physical Ailments Hit Cards

Half Dozen Stars and Veterans on Hospital Roster.

Editors note: This is the eighth of a series of articles by Davis J. Walsh, dealing with developments in various major league training camps. Other articles of the series will follow.

By Davis J. Walsh.
AVON PARK, Fla., March 14.—If a grammarian were rendering a report on the St. Louis Cardinals, he probably would do so under the following concise terms: Gender, male; mood, interrogative; tense, very. He might not be so far wrong, at that.

The Cards, as I was prepared to see them, were a somewhat interrogative proposition. They still are to me, in spite of Bill McKeechie's reassurances today as the club was preparing to leave for St. Petersburg to play the Braves. And the situation must remain just a bit tense until such time as the internes from the emergency ward pack up their scalpels and call the thing a cure.

As to that, some of the returns on this matter haven't started out yet. The human uncertainties yet to be accounted for and the various organs affected are listed herewith:

Bob O'Farrell, former manager and star catcher: arm.

Tommy Thevenow, star shortstop: leg.

Chick Hafey, regular outfielder: eyes.

Ray Blades, ditto: knee.

Rabbit Maranville, elderly short-fielder: himself.

Maranville at Short.
That Thevenow's broken leg as yet to be proven sound; that the bad arm which kept O'Farrell out of many games last year hasn't been adequately tested here, if at all; that Hafey's many operations last winter may or may not have proved beneficial and that Blades' injured knee is responding so slowly that he may not really know its true condition until June.

The fact of the matter is that Maranville has been playing shortstop regularly in Thevenow's place, the latter's mended leg having given him considerable trouble here. The bone, it seems, has set properly enough but the tendon in the heel has made him lame. It is not a condition that indicates any great degree of permanency but, then, every game Thevenow misses may be regarded as so much lost. My understanding is that spring training is designed to afford the athletes just one thing, I. E., spring training. Thevenow is getting very little.

In his absence, McKeechie says, the Rabbit is playing like the Maranville of yore. But, unless I am in error, he no longer would do as a shortstop in the International league last year. The chances are he is like so many other veterans—a flare up for a week or so and then, good night, to it.

O'Farrell has done little, if any, catching this spring but McKeechie says his arm is all right and I presume that diagnosis will have to do until we know more.

They say Hafey's eyes have recovered completely from the effects of his sinus trouble and he seems to be quite all he should be. Blades, however, makes no secret of the fact that he knows all too little about the real condition of his knee.

Douthitt Still Around.
"Don't Hit" Douthitt, a plausible specimen in 1926, still is about the premises, but he will have to hit or take the consequences. Roscoe Holm, Storm Lake, Iowa, extra men last year, are also in there giving the thing the old college try again. Homer Peel, of Syracuse and Port Sullivan, Texas, likewise is giving the situation a rally but to no particular effect to date.

One naturally expects Thevenow to laugh off his broken leg in time, but immediately to the right of him is Lester Bell at third base and that young man didn't do altogether right by our Nellie in 1927.

They can't go wrong on the opposite side of the infield, however, with Frank Frisch at second base and Jim Bottomley, of Nokomis, Illinois, at first.

Catching, Pitching All Right.
They constitute just 50 per cent of a great infield, provided the other two men are right. If they aren't, Frisch and Bottomley constitute just 50 per cent of nothing. Heine Schuble, a fighting kid from Houston, who came up from Danville last year to replace the injured Thevenow, still is in there trying.

The perennial George Tiptopporer is back again.

There is little the matter with the catching, even if O'Farrell does fail to deliver 100 per cent, and nothing at all the matter with the pitching. Grover Alexander is aged, but the youth doesn't live who wouldn't trade the years to be Alex. He is good for at least another year at top speed. Short-

Smith News bowlers are champions of the Liberty duckpin league as a result of their victory last night over the Altman. Clothiers in the final league clash of the season. The News bowlers, first half champs, shot consistently to take two out of three games while the second half winners fell off badly in the final match.

The Clothiers drew a win in the first game, 733 to 702, but the News five topped them by a 745 to 742 count in the second. The News bettered its previous mark by four pins in the final contest while the best the opposition could do was 591.

Bill Manypenny was high with a score of 497 for the three games while Unger's 190 topped individual laurels.

Potters Keep Edge For State

Will Battle Canton High on Friday Night at 8:30.

WORKING easily to avoid possible staleness, with just enough practice to keep muscles limbered up, Coach Joe Hurst is attempting these few days to keep his eastern Ohio basketball champions in the razor edge form that marked their performances last week in the sectional tournament at New Concord.

If the Blue and White had been able to go right ahead Saturday and play their state finals games then, it's hard to tell to what lengths they might have gone, for, judging from their playing, it would have taken a great basketball team to beat them. Keeping in that same condition, then, is the job they face this week.

According to the schedule announced from Columbus following the pairings in the office of Governor V. E. Donahy, East Liverpool will go into action in its first state tournament game on Friday night at 8:30 o'clock, playing Canton McKinley, the team they licked in the second game of their schedule this season.

The Potters are lined up in the bracket with Columbus Central, Toledo Libbey and Canton McKinley.

The other group includes Hamilton, Hillsboro, Akron South, Fremont and Dayton Silvers.

Hillsboro, winner of the southeastern tournament where Portsmouth was the pre-tourney favorite, was drawn to meet Hamilton, favorite from the Cincinnati district in the first class A game of the meet on Friday morning at 11 o'clock.

Fremont will tangle with Dayton Silvers in the second game at 3:30 o'clock.

Columbus Central, a surprise winner from the central division ranks, plays Toledo Libbey at 7:30 o'clock and this, according to schedule, will be followed by the East Liverpool-Canton McKinley game at 8:30.

Akron South, which drew the only bye, will meet the winner of the Hillsboro-Hamilton game at 9:30.

The class B games will be run between the class A contests.

The class B lineup follows: New Concord vs. Oberlin. Kunkle vs. Tippecanoe City. Berea vs. Manchester. Marysville vs. Strasburg. Gastalia vs. Marshall.

Jim Thorpe in Cage Togs Here Tonight With Indian Passers

"AMES "JIM" THORPE, greatest Indian athlete the world has known and one of the greatest all-around athletes of all time, will appear in basketball togs before Liverpool district fans tonight in the high school auditorium when his World Famous Indians clash with an all-star aggregation rounded up by Bill Powell.

In Thorpe's entourage are six players besides himself: the club trainer, Chief Long Time Sleep, Indian medicine man; and Chick Skelley, business manager.

Thorpe, 40 years old, is listed as coach of the Indians. While his six more youthful Redskin associates do most of the playing, the former Carlisle star breaks into the lineup at guard for a part of the game.

Powell, in communication with Dick Larkins, at Columbus, today announced he expected the former high school athlete here late this afternoon.

Larkins will play his customary guard position. In all probability Tony Paulsey will be started at center, with Captain Ray Wilde at one of the forwards and Nate Lippe, Woodlawn high coach, at the other scoring post. Dave Shupe, of Warren, probably will draw a guard post at the start. Minehart, Paulsey's partner, will get into action at a guard and George Calhoun, of Wellsville, at center. While battle plans were still indefinite today, it is entirely possible that Paulsey will be switched to a forward sometime during the game and Calhoun sent in at center against Peters, the Indian 6 ft., 6 in., tip-off man.

First preliminary game between the East Liverpool Alumni and the Wellsboro Ex-High will start at 7 o'clock, followed immediately by the Sigma Delta-Wellsville Epworth League scrimmage. The main scrap will get under way about 8:30.

Powell today announced that arrangements were completed for the installation of extra seats in the event they were needed. Only the best seats downstairs and the first row balcony were reserved, the remainder going as general admission.

LOUGHRAN CALLS DELANEY BACK

NEW YORK, March 14.—Tomy Loughran, light heavyweight champion, has thrown down the gauntlet to Jack Delaney, who retired last summer as the undefeated ruler of that division. He told Joe Jacobs, Delaney's manager, that he would fight Delaney for nothing.

EXPECT HOYT TO MAKE DECISION

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 14.—Walter Hoyt, holdout pitcher of the New York Yankees, is expected to make a decision on the proposition made to him last night by Colonel Ruppert. Col. Ruppert offered him a one-year contract. Hoyt is said to have demanded $20,000 a year and a two-year contract.

Y Champs May Enter Tourney

Paulsey's Youngstowners Would Be Strong Contenders.

BIG TONY PAULSEY of Youngstown, who led the Campbell Merchants to victory in last year's Tri-State district basketball tournament here after a half-season with the East Liverpool Elks' club, and who Saturday piloted the Youngstown "Y" five to the state Y. M. C. A. championship, may bring his Youngstown aggregation intact to East Liverpool for the third tourney on March 30-31.

The Youngstowners defeated Fostoria, 62 to 24, and licked Columbus, 57 to 42, to cop the laurels, and as a result, will go to Cincinnati for the national finals on March 22-23-24.

While it was thought that Paulsey might line up his Merchants again, the dope seems to be now that he wants to bring the Youngstown aggregation here, and in the event that he will be unable to play them under the name of the Youngstown Y. M. C. A., it is possible he may bring the whole outfit here on his own initiative.

While Paulsey was not the whole works in the two games the Youngstowners played to win the state title, he was a pretty fair portion of them. He made 13 points against Fostoria before he left the game and collected 21 in the Columbus contest. Coach Shumacher of Youngstown used his second team during the greater part of the second half with Fostoria.

With Paulsey on the Youngstown squad are Bill Minehart, guard, and "Boots" Hawkins of Columbiana, all-around performer. Hawkins was a star with the Columbiana team of the county league last year.

Rube Bressler, the hard-hitting outfielder who has purchased his release from the Cincinnati Reds, is due to arrive here tomorrow to sign a contract with Brooklyn.

Gives Your Hair Unusual Beauty

The attractiveness of even the most beautiful woman depends upon the loveliness of her hair.

Fortunately, beautiful hair is now easily obtained. It is simply a matter of shampooing.

Proper shampooing makes the hair soft and silky. It brings out all the real life and lustre, all the natural wave and color, and leaves it fresh looking, glossy and bright.

While your hair must have frequent and regular washing to keep it beautiful, it cannot stand the harsh effect of ordinary soaps. The free alkali in ordinary soaps soon dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and ruins it.

That is why discriminating women, everywhere, now use Multisilf Coconut Oil Shampoo. This clear, pure and entirely greaseless product brings out all the real beauty of the hair and cannot possibly injure it.

Two or three teaspoonsful of Multisilf is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather which cleanses thoroughly and rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

It leaves the hair soft, silky and easy to manage and makes it fairly sparkle with new life, gloss and lustre.

You can get Multisilf Coconut Oil Shampoo at any drug store.

A four-ounce bottle lasts for months.

Preferred!

If you can't decide whether you like blonds or brunettes best, here's a bit of evidence that'll help you make up your mind. Artists love to paint her blonde beauty and theatre-goers rave over it. She's Elsa Cover, of 650 West 173rd St., New York City.

"When people tell me how much they admire my hair," she says, "I am always happy to tell them what I do to keep it soft and gleamy. It's really no trouble. All I do is put a few dashes of Danderine on my brush each time I use it. That's the way nearly every really smart girl I know is doing hers. My hair doesn't need shampooing more than once a month. Now, my scalp feels better than it ever has felt. It has gotten rid of all my dandruff, and it makes my hair easy to dress and holds it in position."

Danderine is not oily. It removes the oily film from each strand and restores the natural color and lustre. It dissolves dandruff, cleanses and invigorates the scalp. It is delightfully fragrant. The big bottles are just 35c at all drug stores. Smooth, gleaming healthy hair for a few cents.

Dora can't come!

Today, and every day, a lot of women count their time to suffer. As regularly as the months come 'round, comes pain that is borne in silence. "It's Nature," women say. But it isn't!

Women who have always had the hardest time, have no pain at all from the day they discover Midol.

Midol is the special preparation of specialists, and is not a narcotic. It does nothing to the menstrual process. It does stop the pain—in five to seven minutes! So it is only common sense to use it. And it costs just fifty cents, at any drugstore in tiny carrying case of aluminum.

SAFETY SCHOOL FOR MOTORISTS WHO BREAK LAW

Flaming Youth Cannot be Blamed for Accident Boost.

GRANDPA OFFENDS
Women, Despite What
Men Say, Have Good
Record.

CHICAGO.—Flaming youth cannot be blamed for the increase in automobile accidents and speeding in Chicago, according to a survey made here, but jazzy grandpa and his bald pate.

Among 400 motorists fined on speeding charges here in one day, age outnumbered youth more than two to one, statistics reveal.

Women, although reputed to be less careful in their driving of automobiles than men, are rare offenders. The average age of the male speeder was found to be 44 years.

Safety Classes.
For this reason the West Park commissioners, controlling all boulevards on the West Side of Chicago, decided to form a motorists safety "school" at which drivers convicted of minor infractions of the law are given the rudiments of safety in driving.

In its session the school has taught more than 41,000 persons.
"The average motorist doesn't willfully violate the law," explained Dr. Francis E. Thornton, "teacher" at the motorist school. "Mr. Average Motorist always has an excuse for speeding. He had to catch a train, go to the hospital, his wife was sick, etc. No one means to break the law but it happens just the same."

School a Success.
Dr. Thornton explained proper methods of passing up another motor car, problems of finding parking space, speeding, right-of-way and other cares which assail the average motorist daily.

The school has had 179 sessions and has proved to be a success in the opinion of the park commissioners.

For minor infractions of the motor laws in Chicago, persons are not brought to a speeder's court but are required to call at a city motor bureau and pay their own fine to clerks. Repeated violations, however, necessitate a court appearance.

PAINT "LORAIN" TO AID AIRMEN

LORAIN—This city was the first in the country that was marked so it may be identified by airplane pilots it was revealed by H. G. Curtis, head of the local Chamber of Commerce.

Six years ago, a man whose name had never been recorded, painted the word "Lorain" on the roof of his barn, and mail pilots who noticed it suggested this be done in other cities where they landed.

Jewelry Store Dust Nets $20,000 Fortune In Gold, Platinum

CHICAGO, Ill.—A gold and platinum "mine" in the heart of the Chicago loop has been discovered, it became known here, and will yield between $18,000 and $20,000 to its finder, William F. Juergens, Sr.

Juergens and Anderson company, manufacturing jewelers, moved from an office building on north State street, to the Pittsfield building.

Before they moved, the jewelers tore up the wooden floor which they had installed years before in their old quarters. Under the old floor they found a 30 year accumulation of gold and platinum dust.

The precious metals were mixed with the dust and dirt that had gathered beneath the floor. Juergens and Anderson gathered up the dust in the "mine" and sent it to be refined and reclaimed.

Spirit of St. Louis Name of New Legion Post in Mound City

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—Many honors have been heaped on Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh since he made his memorable flight across the Atlantic and now an American Legion post has adopted the name of his historic plane, The Spirit of St. Louis. The post was recently organized with a charter membership of 37 at a meeting of ex-service men and Legionnaires at the U. S. Veterans' Hospital No. 92, Jefferson Barracks.

Application for the charter was approved by the St. Louis County executive committee of the Legion which voted to present every charter member an official American Legion button. Chicago Police Have Nose Print Plan for Identifying Canines

CHICAGO.—Society matrons of Chicago are taking their pets to the veterinarians to have their noses registered. Fido's nose is smeared with black ink showed on the register and there appears nose lines which when recorded act the same as the methods of recording the fingerprints of criminals.

A prominent dog expert of Chicago revealed that lines in a dog's nose never change from the time it is 48 hours old to death except for an enlargement. The whorls of the lines distinguish one dog from another.

The Chicago police department has now added to its arduous duties the task of recording Fido's prints along with those of safe-blowers. Anyone can have the nose of his pet registered free of charge.

Sage Tea Turns Gray Hair Dark

By SHIRLEY BLAKE

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture. You can get this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, for only 75 cents, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.

ANNIE LAURIE'S TIMELY ADVICE

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl in my teens and I am very much in love with a young man one year my senior. He seems to like me, but he has never asked me for a date.

Please advise me how to win his friendship. ANXIOUS.

ANXIOUS: Why not ask this boy to come to see you sometime? If he is really interested in you, he will be eager to accept your invitation and will see that your friendship progresses from there. If he does not accept, I would advise you not to be concerned about him, as he cannot be sincerely interested in you if he makes no effort to further your friendship. I must caution you to put aside thoughts of love until you are quite a bit older, my dear, and content yourself with the friendships that are offered you.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl nineteen years of age. I have been going with a fellow a few years my senior for the past few months. A week ago he promised to come and see me and he never came. What would you advise me to do? Should I write to him? WORRIED.

WORRIED: No, my dear, you should not write to this boy. Whatever explanation there is for this rudeness should be offered by your friend and I would advise you not to be concerned about him unless he apologizes for his carelessness. If he was prevented from keeping his engagement with you, he should have telephoned or managed to let you know he could not come over. I would advise you to do nothing until he offers some explanation.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I have known a boy at school for about a year. He is very courteous to all of the girls and shows no partiality. I am very much in love with him and I want to know how to make him know that I feel this way about him. UNDECIDED.

UNDECIDED: Let this boy know the way you feel, my dear, and you will forfeit his interest entirely! I would advise you to be content with his friendship and leave it to him to show his partiality later on if his interest in you warrants it. You are too young to be seriously concerned, my dear, and I would advise you to devote more time to your school work and activities and leave less time for such considerations.

DON'T BLAME FOOD FOR INDIGESTION

When pain and discomfort follow a meal, don't blame the food and decide to go on a diet. Nine times out of ten indigestion, acidity, flatulence and heartburn are caused by excess stomach acid and food fermentation.

Even the worst attacks, however, are quickly stopped by taking a little "Pape's Diapepsin," which instantly neutralizes the excess acidity, stops fermentation, and soothes and heals the acid-inflamed stomach lining. Make a special point of getting a 60-cent package of "Pape's Diapepsin" from your druggist today, and so follow the example of millions all over the world who use "Pape's Diapepsin" to end indigestion and allied stomach troubles.

With "Pape's Diapepsin" handy you can eat and enjoy whatever you fancy without fear of pain or discomfort to follow.

Ouch! Ouch! Oh, That Toothache!

Don't Suffer. E-Z Tooth Filler Will Kill That Pain and Torture.

Toothache Fiends Move Out Quickly

Toothache stands no more chance of lasting after "E-Z Tooth Filler" is applied in the cavity than a chunk of ice has of lasting on a hot stove. It melts away just as the ice does, and just as quick.

Best of all, though, it's more than a mere temporary relief. When put in the cavity, it seals it air-tight and hardens quickly. The ache stops and stays stopped, while "E-Z" acts as a regular filling until you get ready to go to a dentist for a permanent job.

It is not merely a temporary relief, either, but a real filling for the tooth which will last for weeks or months. Anyone can use "E-Z" (easy) Tooth Filler. It takes but a moment and costs only 50c. "E-Z Tooth Filler" is for sale at your druggist's at 25c a bottle, or sent direct upon receipt of price by the Chas. A. Bertram Drug Co., 3758 N. Albany Ave., Chicago.

WHAT A DOCTOR KNOWS ABOUT CONSTIPATION

There IS a way of overcoming the tendency to constipation. And here is how you can PROVE it.

The next time your bowels need any assistance, don't take the first laxative that comes to mind. Take one the druggist can assure you is made with CASCARA. Just as effective as using force, and it's good for the system. Indeed, it helps make good blood. For cascara is nothing but the bark of a tree. The Indians chew this bark, and live to an old age without a day's sickness.

What happens when you cascarize the bowels? They will usually function well for SEVERAL DAYS. One more dose—no larger, and perhaps smaller than the first—and the bowels function of their own accord for a still longer time. Until you don't feel the need of any aid of any sort for weeks on end.

So, the only habit you get from cascara is that of natural and normal regularity. How different from that one must usually repeat on the morrow! Cascara is the ideal laxative and the familiar little candy cascarets are doubtless its ideal form. Children beg for these tasty tablets, and many men and women wouldn't think of taking ANYTHING else for the purpose. And EVERY druggist has them.

Nothing Cleans Teeth LIKE POWDER

Just ask your dentist

If you want the whitest, cleanest teeth possible, just try this; the oldest and most reliable way of all to clean teeth.

For over sixty years, since 1866, dentists everywhere, have prescribed Dr. Lyon's Tooth Powder because of its superior cleansing qualities.

As it is only the powder part of a dentifrice that cleans, naturally a dentifrice that is ALL POWDER cleans best. That is why your dentist, when cleaning your teeth, as you know, always uses powder.

Teeth simply cannot remain dull and film coated when Dr. Lyon's is used. While it removes all the stain and tartar and actually polishes the teeth as it cleans, it cannot possibly scratch or injure the most delicate enamel, as SIXTY YEARS of constant use has shown.

Dr. Lyon's has stood the test of time, as nothing else could. Thousands have found it safe, reliable and unequalled throughout an entire lifetime of constant use. It is the only dentifrice old enough to prove it can preserve teeth for life.

Dr. Lyon's Tooth Powder keeps your teeth REALLY CLEAN, and clean teeth mean firm, healthy gums and the least possible tooth decay.

Its rich, cleansing properties penetrate every pit and crevice, reaching every particle of food, or foreign matter, lodged therein. Thus, it leaves the mouth sweet and clean, the breath pure, and its cooling refreshing after taste is delightful.

Brush your teeth twice each day with Dr. Lyon's Tooth Powder; consult your dentist regularly to be on the safe side and you will be doing the very utmost to protect your teeth. Make this test if you want whiter, cleaner and more beautiful teeth.

You can get Dr. Lyon's Tooth Powder at any drug store, or toilet goods counter. You will find it not only more efficient, but it costs less than most anything else you can use.

From the sickroom of a former New York Mayor to plague-ridden Near East refugee camps is a long hop. HOW TO STOP FOOD FERMENTATION

In Stomach and Avoid Sourness and Indigestion.

It is gas, formed by fermenting food, that after meals bloats your stomach, causing sourness, heartburn, dullness, uncomfortable fullness and pains of indigestion. Drugs, stomach tonics and artificial digestants like pepsin fail to give satisfactory relief because they have little or no effect on the stomach acids that have been proved to be the real cause of gassy stomach and practically all indigestion. Instead an absolutely pure ant-acid or neutralizing agent should be used after meals to neutralize this dangerous acid in the stomach, and undoubtedly nothing could be better or safer for the purpose than pure Bisurated Magnesia. This you can obtain from any good drug store in either powder or tablets, and in most cases a teaspoonful of the powder, or two tablets taken with a little water after meals will be sufficient to instantly neutralize excessive acidity of the stomach, stop and prevent premature souring and fermentation of the food and permit a normal, painless digestion of whatever you have eaten. Try this simple prescription and be delighted with your entire freedom from indigestion.

Business accepts no excuses for "draggy" mornings

The hardest work at school

The heaviest load in business

The most strenuous household duties

The 4 high-pressure hours must be met energetically

According to recent surveys of business habits, the bulk of the day's work is accomplished in the morning. From 65 to 75 per cent falls between 8:30 and 12:30.

The worker who doesn't feel up to par during these vitally-important hours is cruelly handicapped. The forenoon laggard can never compete with the forenoon worker!

That is why there is a new urge in the business world to pay more attention to breakfast. And more and more people are finding in Quick Mother's Oats the sustaining nourishment that carries them through high-pressure mornings.

Quick Mother's Oats "stands by" you—because it is so rich in vigor-building food-values, in energy materials, in tissue-building proteins, in minerals, vitamins, and bran! No other cereal grown is as well balanced as oats, dietitians say.

Because it is made from the cream of the oat crop, milled by methods developed through 50 years of experience, you find in Quick Mother's Oats a fine, full flavor that ordinary oats do not have. Taste it slowly, critically. You will see at once why what a difference there is in oatmeal. Whether you get the new Quick Mother's Oats, which cooks in 2½ to 5 minutes, or the regular kind—the rich flavor is the same. Start tomorrow to let this hot, nourishing breakfast protect you from "draggy" mornings.

Stolen Idols

A Romance of the Sea

By Frank L. Packard.

He snarled suddenly, and a fury that he had not known before was upon him. Knives now, was it! The slashed sleeve of his pajamas flapped around his wrist. He was breathing hard. They would pay for that! He crouched a little—and then in a flash, like a hu-an bat-t-ig ram, he launched himself upon them, driving in his blows with a new strength born out of the elemental passion that had been aroused in him. And before his rush the white shapes seemed to lurch and stagger backward—no, they were scatteri- working around behind him—he was getting too far into the room—he couldn't block the way to the ver- da like this!

He sprang backward, and for moment stood free of the rack.

The next instant something, b-tled through the air and crashed against the wall. What was it? A chair? It was a new method of attack! That last rush of his seemed to have left them with little stomach for close quarters even w- their knives. Another crash against the wall! A missile of some sort f- ned his cheek. And then he was conscious for a brief instant on a crushing glow upon his head, a ingl- in his ears a sense of gld- dness—and he pitched forward on his face unconscious.

There was a light in the room, and he found himself lying on a couch when he opened his eyes. He put his hand to his head—it throbbed as though a thousand devils with as many hammers were beating a merciless tattoo upon it—and there was a huge swelling above his right temple, but there was no blood upon his hand as he drew it away. He stared around him. His father was in the wheelchair over there by the desk. The room was in confusion. A chair lay smashed to pieces on the floor. And then suddenly Bob Kingsley sat upright. He was a little dizzy, but apart from that and an aching head, quite himself—his brain anyway was clear enough. He got to his feet quickly, if a little unsteadily.

"They didn't get away, did they?" he cried out sharply. "Our fellows caught them, didn't they?"

Old Robert Kingsley swung his chair around. "All right again, lad?" he said gruffly. "I saw it was n- serious—but it was a nasty crack. They hit you with that old iron door-stop there. I found it on the floor beside you and—"

"Yes, but they didn't get away, did they? Bob inter- rupted sharply. "That's all that counts."

The old man laughed out suddenly, mirthlessly. "I made it, sn—dye understand?" he said with a sort of fierce assertiveness. "I made it from the bed to the chair, but the cursed chair got caught somehow in the doorway. Yes, they got away. By the time our boys got over, and they got cleared away there wasn't anybody in the room but you lying there stunned on the floor. The boys are out on the hunt now—but they won't find any of the lot that broke in here."

"Then I will!" said Bob savagely, and took a step toward the veranda. "There's something coming to them, and they're going to get it if we have to scour the island for them!"

"Which is exactly where you won't find them!" the old man jerked out with another mirthless laugh. "If I'd known then what I know now, I wouldn't have sent our boys out on a chase through the woods after mares' nests. But if you want to know where to look, I'll tell you—it'll be in the Monotah."

CHAPTER 11.

Bob Kingsley stared at his father. "The Monotah?" he repeated in a puzzled way. "Why the Monotah? I don't see the connection. The fellows that sneaked in here were natives. I'm sure of that."

"There's a native or two to spare on the Monotah, isn't there?" returned the old man crisply. "Her lower decks are usually full of 'em—all kinds—you can take your pick—Malay, Kling, or Chink."

Bob Kingsley shrugged his shoulders. "Everybody knows that the native passenger list on any boat in these parts doesn't leave much deck space; but that doesn't prove anything," he said a little im- patiently. "I never heard of any of them coming ashore in any port on a thieving expedition."

"Nor you ain't heard it now—that is, in the sense you mean," replied Robert Kingsley with a twisted smile. "Come here, my lad, and take a look at that!" He swung his wheeled-chair sharply around again, and pointed to the desk in front of him.

Bob Kingsley stepped forward across the room. The old man was still pointing—but his hand was shaking now.

"Look in there!" he said hoarsely. "That's the way they left it! That's what they were after! They were watching us all the time."

Bob Kingsley leaned forward. The drawer that he had locked before going to bed was partially open, and obviously had been rudely forced, for the lock was broken. But for a moment he stood perplexed. The contents seemed to be untouched. The letters were there where he had left them; and there were the wrist- watch, the tobacco pouch, the revolver, the pipe, and— He drew in his breath sharply.

The two white gods were gone.

He whirled around, and the eyes of the two men met.

"They're gone!" he said.

"Aye! They're gone—and nothing else is gone!" an- swered the old man grimly. "Tain't hard to put two and two together, is it? Dye understand now why I said that whoever is at the bottom of this would be found on the Monotah? The Monotah brought the mail with those two bits of ivory. No one here would know anything about them. But it was known all over down Singapore-way that they'd been found on Tom. Who- ever was after 'em—and it's plain enough now some- body was after 'em, and after nothing else—must have come on the Monotah. There was no other way of get- ting here—no other way of anybody who could know anything about them getting here as soon as the mail."

Bob Kingsley nodded, and his eyes grew hard.

"Then," he said slowly, "it's a certainty that those two ivory gods have something to do with that night at Ka- awa—with Uncle Tom's murder."

"Yes," said the old man fiercely. "Hsi Yan! That's the feeling I had last night, and I said so. But I never thought, with Hsi Yan dead, but that those bits of ivory had played their part, whatever it was. I didn't look for anything like this. There's a touch of hell here that I don't understand."

"Then, we'll turn it to our own account!" he said with a grim smile, as he winced at his self-inflicted pain. "Since, in view of what has just happened here, those two white gods tie up Hsi Yan and his crowd with the attack at Kala a, there'll be no need of hunting for the devils all over the Archipelago. They're here—at least some of them are."

You're right about them being on the Monotah."

The old man did not appear to have been listening—he was staring at the broken lock on the drawer.

"I looked at those bits of ivory last night, and you looked at them," he said shortly. "There didn't seem to be anything out of the ordinary about them except it was mighty strange that under the circumstances, they were in Tom's pockets. But Hsi Yan's men aren't going to come a thousand or more miles to Patua and break in here just for two little carved idols that on the face of them aren't worth talking about, though I'm willing to admit the carving was about the best I've ever seen. It stand to reason they wouldn't. What's the meaning of those two white gods? What are they?"

Bob Kingsley's jaws were suddenly clamped.

"The answer's on the Monotah. You said so yourself."

"Yes," and the Monotah sails at daybreak," said the old man significantly. "It's not far off that now."

Without making any answer, Bob Kingsley abruptly crossed the room and stepped out on the veranda. Here for a moment he studied the sky. The wind was still swirling in vicious gusts around the bungalow, but the clouds were broken and here and there a star showed again. The disturbance had obviously been no more than a short-lived tropical squall—it was passing over now.

He returned to the living-room and faced his father again beside the desk.

"I'm sailing, too, at daybreak—on the Alita," he said quietly.
